9. Discussion Only-South Lake Estates PUD (NO ACTION WILL BE TAKEN)

Jenniges explained the new proposed South Lake Estates PUD. He stated the original PUD was published and sent out to the neighbors and was scheduled to be heard today. Because of the changes made the City of Mitchell started over with notices and meeting dates. The new dates for hearings will be July 11 for Planning Commission and July 18 and Aug 1 for Council.

Chuck Mauszycki Sr stated the PUD will allow for bigger homes since there are smaller setbacks. The Master Plan for the area as well as the Plat have already been approved and this is the next step in the development. Most of the lots are 85' x 120'. He stated if the PUD is not approved then he doesn't believe there is enough room for attached garages and possibly not even detached garages. He has a contract with Mitchell Area Housing Incorporated (MAHI) to do the first 23 houses in the development and they will present a TIF for the infrastructure.

Terry Sabers representing MAHI stated the 23 houses will be workforce housing. Other builders around the area are building $300k-$500k houses and they are focusing around the $250k. Brookings has built 2.5 to 3 times more houses in the last 4 decades than Mitchell.

Jeff McCormick of SPN stated they are still in the design phase of the project. They are designing to run as much sewer to the west lift stations as to not overload the east lift station. They are also designing a storm water management system.

Schroeder stated he has had preliminary discussions on the design phase but once a final design is presented the City of Mitchell will look at it and approve or disapprove of it.

Dale Odeggaard owns property in the area. He stated they have 53 signatures against the PUD. He believes it should stay as RL, the PUD opens it up and everything can be done out there.

Kelly Gross stated he owns land out there and it was easy to get the signatures against the PUD. He has a business at 110 W 2nd and his customers make comments about the mower business across from his office. He doesn't want another Sam Street out there and high sheds encroach upon the sunlight.

Jason Spicer a recent DWU graduate moved to Sioux Falls after graduation. In 2020 he moved back to Mitchell in a 100 year home close to DWU and since he moved back his neighbors sold their house for $100k more than they purchased it for. He believes Mitchell needs a growing housing market to get people to move here.

Steven Patrick noted the original 1975 plat and how they planted trees in the park and now with this development they have been taken out. He does not trust the development. Ellwein noted the trees were not planted in the correct locations in 1975 and the city has planted new trees with in the park. Larson also noted a lot of the trees in the area are volunteer trees.

Dennis Everson moved to the area 3 years ago after living in Yankton. They needed low income housing there and the first generation of landowners were fine but the second generation didn't take care of them and it has become an eye sore. He is concerned about the unintended consequences that happen with development.

Molumby said it looks like people want more information and he hopes over the next two weeks they can get it.
