Explanation/Background of Agenda Item Requested:

A number of months ago, the City worked with Slumberland to be able to use a portion of their parking lot for free in conjunction with the Corn Palace Festival and carnival. No written agreement was put in place.

A few days before the festival was to start, Slumberland told the City it was now requiring a written agreement and it would be charging the City $250.00 per day to use a portion of their parking lot. Fearing the impact on the Corn Palace Festival, then Corn Palace Director Scott Schmidt tentatively agreed to the attached agreement under the understanding that council would have to consider ratifying the agreement after the festival took place.

The agreement basically lays out the area we would use, the purposes it would be used for, and the amount for rent. Other terms are mostly standard contract provisions.
